“ I remember Mr. Williams from all our years, upon years working together at Florida Power and Light, not to mention all our phone conversations years later in retirement. He was always kind and a gentleman, especially for putting up with me at times. I couldn't say I've ever seen him angry and I probably gave him reason to be angry a few times. We worked and did so very well together, we were forever and always friends from day one. Jack kinda helped me along in my early career as a lineman at FPL and I was glad and proud to have him as a friend, mentor.

All those hours and hours of working together and all the overtime complete with laughs and good times was and always will be great memories. It's too bad cell phones weren't around back then on some of our adventures, they would have made some seriously great pictures and memories to share right now. The two of us always managed to stay in touch after FPL and I'd just spoken to Jack about a week, or so ago and was completely shocked, plus heartbroken when Shirley called me. He was a one in a million type of friend and I personally will never forget Mr. Williams and all our times together. All the deepest love, sympathy and condolence's to the Williams family, he's one of the best.

“ I remember Mr Williams and how beautiful he always kept his yard. He and Millie would go to football games together sometimes she would text me and say “Me and dad are at the game and it’s hot like fire out here!” I remember Millie telling me one time that her dad said “Yup you guys are always sick because you don’t take bleach baths, just a cap full of bleach in the bath water every so often will help you to not get sick!” that made me laugh so hard, coming from California it just sounded so funny to me! Sometimes when I have a scratchy throat I often think of him and those bleach baths, the older generations and their remedies there is something to that honestly. I know that you all will have lots more memories to share and things that will come to mind during this time please know that our thoughts and prayers are with you all and we look for the time of seeing him again with no more pain or sickness.
