“ My memory of my MENTOR...
Sometimes you do not realize how much that person has impacted your life till they are gone. In 2001 I started working at Bath & Body works in the Gardens. I worked for a woman named Stacy Pollard. She was hard on me, at the age of 21 I just thought she was mean and didn't like me. When I left there I was her only full time sales associate, She had me doing every thing that management did. At the time I just thought she didn't want to do it. I was very young.. I left to be a stay at home Mom, she said "well are you sure" I said yes. She said if I ever needed a job come find her. So I did in December, She was now at the Treasure Coast mall. As I started working for her again it was different. I saw her differently, I respected her! I realized that all that time in the past she was not nagging. SHE WAS TEACHING ME! She saw in me what I did not and was pushing to reach my full potential. She is the only one who has ever said to me "you are going places and you are going to be some one, don't ever forget that Steph"
Brain and Megan, I am truly sorry for your loss. I want you to know that Stacy was my mentor/ teacher. I am where I am because she taught me to believe in myself, excel, lead, and ask questions. I am truly blessed to have known her and to have been taught by her.

“ Stacey, Your smile was contagious and your laughter infectious... We shared too much turkey & all the trimmings on the beach of Jupiter inlet... We shared life stories, laughed together, cried together, laughed until we cried together, and we made memories that I will always cherish. My only regret was not being able to visit with you more... I will miss you my friend & I love you. Rest in peace & go sing & soar with the angels... (or make them laugh, which you seem to be good at)...Until we meet again, Kimberly

We knew you when you were first born. We watched as you grew into a cute little girl, then a beautiful woman, then as a wonderful loving wife and mother. We love you and will miss you. You will always be in our hearts.
