“ Years have passed since your death and there still isn't a day I don't think about you. Whether it is a small thought or an all day long lingering memory-thon, I always remember what an integral part of my life you were. From the big to the small--calling Emma Booberry, a nickname we still use with her, the love you had for both my babies...rushing up to the hospital to hold Hannah before going to the FCTM, driving me to the NICU at St. Mary's so I could see my baby during your chemo treatment. I wish you were still here to see my Hannah turning into a beautiful, witty, intelligent young lady. And I wish you were around to greet her future boyfriends at the door with a shot gun being cleaned. (God knows none of the rest of us have the balls you did!) Your love of arguing with my husband to get it out of his system. Our crazy midnight runs to Wal-Mart for no reason whatsoever. Sitting, not talking and not feeling awkward. On this the eve of your death three years ago, I am sending you my love, and letting you know I miss you so very much!

“ Rick, Daniel and John:

Angie will be welcomed into heaven by her God, and her Mother, Anita Lord, who passed away last fall!

We have been friends of her parents for many years. They raised her with that great sense of humor, unselfish love and vibrancy for life! Our thoughts and prayers are there with you, as you go through this dark valley. Hold on to the love and great memories!

John, we will be there with you this fall , God willing!

Love, Tom and Barbara
