“ My father Paul (Dan's older brother) used to always joke about making bumper stickers that would say things like "Actually, I am related to a rocket scientist." or "Your kid is in the honor society? Well my brother is a rocket scientist!". He was so proud of Dan and I am too. I wish I could be there today to celebrate his life with the others who love him. Hang in there Ginger, Kelly, and Danny!

Michael DeLuca - New England - March 12, 2013 at 12:00 AM

“ Some of us at Pratt & Whitney were reminiscing about Dan's lasting contributions to how materials behave. He is missed here as well. God's comfort to your family.

“ To the DeLuca Family, It was my privilege and pleasure to have worked with Dan. He shared with me many lessons learned on the performance of Jet Engine Components. This legacy will live in Pratt & Whitney's Engineering Technical University as we mentor the next generation of Engineers in what it takes to make the best engine. Farewell my friend. “ Thinking of many fond memories of Dan and praying for his Family. Dan was a great friend, neighbor, mentor, and coworker. He taught me so many things at Pratt Whitney, but what I miss most was the the time we spent together boating and fishing in Jupiter. Dan loved snorkeling and collected many old bottles from the water off of Jupiter Lighthouse. He loved muscle cars, and owned a 65 Dodge GTO back in the 80's. He loved cigars, Beethoven, and convertibles, but he always said he loved his family most.
