“Happy birthday Ma, I hope you were looking down on us with your typical laugh and smile knowing that you achieved the most important goal, which was to raise a good family and one that shared your most important value, unconditional love of family. I can't thank you enough for all that you did for me through the years, quietly guiding me in the right direction, steering me to the better path with your subtle persuasion. Through out my life I had the comfort of knowing that despite some of the crazy things I would do I know that I had you as a safety net and could count on your love and support. I will miss you for the rest of my days but take comfort in knowing that your legacy of kindness, laughter and focus and family love will continue through your children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren and everyone else in this world that was lucky enough to have known you.
Happy birthday Ma, you will be missed.

“ Dear Donna, Bill, and girls, Please know you are all in my prayers during this difficult time. Your mom/grandma is at peace now and lives on in you. I didn't know her, but knew of her from all the stories shared of the good times. She was a blessed lady to have the love and support you have all shown her. Smile when you think of her and speak of her and to her often. Hang on to those happy memories and know we will all meet again. Be strong for your dad/grandpa. This is going to be more difficult than you can even imagine on him. I know he will be surrounded by and take comfort in your love.

“ Dear grammyWish I had been able to see you one last time and I wish you had been able to met your second and third great grandchild but I'm thrilled that you were able to meet your first- I will cherish those memories of that day and the countless others from growing up. I don't remember too much about your time in Walpole but I will always have the memories of visiting you in indiantown- the golf cart rides swimming in the pool and visiting the grove! May you rest in peace and feel no pain any longer. Love, Jenn

“ To all...

Losing a mother/grandmother is never an easy thing in life. Your Mom is in heaven with all of our loved ones who have passed. I think they are all sitting around a table having a good time like they used to long ago...great memories!

Your mom will be missed and always remembered.

Love,

“ In times of sadness we rely on memories for comfort and I smile each time I read the memories that have already been shared. It is clear that we all had grand times in Indiantown cruising around in golf carts, doing water aerobics, and sleeping in infamous twin beds. I remember a HUGE collection of nail polish that lived under the master bathroom sink; why, I'm not really sure. I am also old enough to remember Barstow Road and the "big rock" at the end of the street. I've been back to Barstow Road and that rock is not nearly the mountain we imagined but the 4th of July legends will live on. Throughout all of these memories was a kind and caring woman who was always there to pick you up, give you a hug, and take you shopping. In her honor, we will continue to build this crazy big family that always made her so proud.
