“ Dear Jim, Ray, and Brianna,

The last time we saw all of you together was just about four years ago at Aunt Lorraine's and Uncle Don's house. This was shortly before you found out about the cancer. Much has happened in these four long years and you have experienced the emotions of hope, anxiety, and despair in ways that we can never know.

From time to time we would hear about what you were going through, what you were planning, and some of the things that you did as a family. Each time the thing that always stood out was the love you shared among yourselves and with those around you and the trust you put in God and your faith. We hope this will provide some comfort to you now as well.

We will always remember Liz as she was those four long years ago. And we will keep you in our hearts and prayers trusting that that will help in some small way during this very difficult time.

Love, Hugs, and Kisses,

Beth and Michael

“ Thinking about the loss of Liz hurts deeply and it leaves a void in our hearts. But there really is no void at all when you look at the big picture. Liz has only been an inspiration to us from the moment we had the pleasure of knowing her. She made you walk away thinking " I wish I was that pleasant all the time" or "what a sweet heart of a person that one is" or " That is someone I could trust", and the list goes on... We went camping a few years back at Peanut Island and Sandy and I were sitting around talking to Lis when Jim came walking up. Liz looked up at Jim and said in a split second " How did you ever become so darn cute". I thought to myself "Now that is a love that nothing will ever break". I was right. Liz had a wonderful life with Jim and her beautiful children Brianna and Ray. They have stayed very tight and made incredible memories with each other along the way. She was a ray of sunshine and the worlds most delightful person to be with. She has touched each and every one of us in a uniquely special way. She has shown us courage way above any of us want to imagine. She kept a deep faith when she knew what the outcome would be. She held the family together with her special way. We will miss you dearly Liz and there will be some very sad moments for family and friends. We know you are in a good position to help any of us if we call upon you. All we ask is that you try to save some spaces for us in heaven and we will see you again one day. Meanwhile we will do our best to live with the zeal for life, compassion for others, and delightfulness that you shared with us. Love; The Connell's

“ Dear Jim,
Liz was a wonderful friend to me as we went through treatment together. She gave 150% of herself! I miss her so much! I have faith that she is whole again, perfect in her beautiful self, smiling at her beautiful family and loved ones. It is a great loss to everyone she came in contact with for she made everyone feel wonderful. Your family is a beautiful testament to her life, a life very well lived. Her accomplishments are a fine legacy that she will be remembered well.
She would stop by and see us here at Superior Electric and light the whole place up with her charm. We were so lucky to have her in our lives! I can't remember Tequesta without Liz and we will always remember her. Warm Regards, Nancy Prophitt

“ Jim, Brianna, and Raymond,
Our hearts go out to you at this emotional time. We know that Liz is no longer suffering and in a more peaceful place. Liz was one of the kindest and caring friends I have ever known. From the time our daughters met in preschool 9 years ago to the last time I saw Liz earlier this year, she was always smiling and so ever thoughtful...never one to talk much about herself but always asking how everyone else was. She will be so missed on this Earth but I know that God must have needed her more...she was an angel. We send our love and prayers to you all. Joe, Carol, Connor, and Carly White.

“ Liz I miss you but thank you for letting me know you are still with me and us all... I felt you last night in the wind and again today when you sent me your special message only you would know... So I thought this poem is something you would like for me Share...

*Do not stand at my grave and weep;
I am not there. I do not sleep.
I am a thousand winds that blow.
I am the diamond glints on snow.
I am the sunlight on ripened grain.
I am the gentle autumn's rain.
When you awaken in the morning's hush,
I am the swift uplifting rush of quiet birds in circled flight.
I am the soft stars that shine at night.
Do not stand at my grave and cry;
I am not there. I did not die.*

*Liz, i love you so very very much. And you will forever be alive in all of us.
Kisses, hugs, more kisses and hugs.
Love you big sis.... Melinda*

“ My goodness.....where does one start in such a situation. Me personally I have lost a wonderful sweet and dear friend. She has been my hero now for over four years. It's been amazing to witness the fight she fought and the faith and hope she projected everyday. I have known her for 28 years and been close for at least 22 if not more. Never once have I seen her angry or say a harsh word to anyone. It was wasted energy to her. Life was half full in Lizzy's glass. She's been an inspiration to many but especially to me and my family. I have fond memories of our friendship. I will always cherish them and forever hold them in my heart. We have worked and played together, raised our babies, loved our husbands unconditionally as they have us. These past 10 years we have grown even closer as we got older and our children grown, taken vacations together that will forever be etched in all of our memories. Cherished memories that our children want to relive. I am blessed to have been a part of Lizzy's life and her awesome family. They have welcomed Dan, I and Brandon like one of their own. And we accepted with open arms and hearts. They know us better than our own "real" family. We are truly blessed. Jim you are a true saint in my eyes because of the unconditional way you have always loved and adored Liz. I can remember when we would go out or whatever we'd do, it would always amaze me how much you two would look at each other like you could never get enough of one another. Holding hands, smiling that "love" smile. You use to make us "sick". LOL! Not really. That smile for each other never faded only got bigger and more devoted. If there was a witness to marriage vows, Jim you succeeded with honors. With admiration and love you will forever be my hero for being the man you are. I could go on forever but I wont because I know that one day I will see my best friend again. In the mean time I am going watch her through her children and the memories of the years we created especially the last few months. I love this girl, my sunshine, my momma, my sista and she has left a lasting impression in my heart and soul. I WILL ALWAYS MISS HER.

GOD BLESS, TERRIE
