“ From the moment I met her, I knew that Grace was one of a kind. She was strong-willed, smart, and witty. From the time when I was a student at PBCC, she took me under her wing, and guided me with my studies. When I would walk into the library she was always the smiling face I wanted to see. She would always say to me What's new kiddo? and was always excited to hear about my day. She took an interest like no other in my success and made me feel like I could do anything. Grace also became a very close friend of my moms. They worked closely together in the library and ate lunch together everyday. I know that my mom thought of her as her best friend, and felt that Grace was one of those people that come into your life for a reason. She was a true friend, and a hard worker. When I didn't believe in myself, Grace never stopped believing in me. I am forever thankful that I had her in my life and I am so lucky to have known such an amazing woman.

“ Gracie, as I called her, was one of the nicest people I've ever met . She was always very dedicated to her job and to the college. I will miss our talks and brainstorming about our work. She also gave me some great cooking recipes that I will cherish.

Gracie meant alot to me, and I will miss her greatly.

Rest in peace Gracie.

Love, Rene'

“ Jay and Family, Grace was classy, smart, stoic, very strong, proper, cuttignly honest opinionated, and quietly generous with others. Most of all she was my best friend. She was genuine and she was interested in my life and my family. We shared stories every morning over coffee that she made me every day. Grace was very scheduled. We exchanged updates about our lives, talked about politics but briefly so we didnt argue and we also discussed the daily work that would have to be accomplished that day. Lunch had to be taken at 12pm exactly and she would come to my office to make sure I was on schedule. Her dedication to the LLRC was unwavering. She put in 26 years in that Library. No job was too small or too large, it just had to be done and that is what she did every day. Under Graces tough exterior there was a warm and generous heart and she was sensitive to others. I feel very fortunate that I had her friendship and love. I love you Gracie always.

“ Grace you were one in a million. You were always there for someone who needed a helping hand. You were caring, thoughtful, loyal, kind, sharing devoted and full of laughter. Everyone benefitted by knowing you....even the squirrels outside the library. Your passing will be a hardship for me and all the others that loved you. You will not be forgotten and may you rest in peace.

My sincere condolences to Jay and the family.

“ Dear Jay and family, I am so saddened to hear about Grace. Grace has been a dear friend of mine of many years. We met when she first came to work at the college and were co-workers on the library. I enjoyed visiting with Grace and Jay for dinner and learning to needlepoint. We shared many great times together wish I will always treasure. Grace was a kind and very special women. My thoughts and prayers are with you and your family. Love, Cherie

“ Grace was one of the most delightful people I've met at the Eissey campus in the 5 years I've been teaching Theatre Appreciation on campus. She was instrumental in encouraging me to each semester display my students' projects in the library display case on the second floor of the library. I called her "Amazing Grace", because she was. I will miss her deeply. John Sabo Adjunct professor at Eissey campus
