

Jennifer Ann Dascanio

November 20, 1946 - February 21, 2024

Jennifer, a loving wife to late Domenico, a devoted mother of two sons – Frank (spouse-Rose), Christopher (spouse-Julie) and grandmother to five cherished grandchildren. Jennifer also had a sister who, sadly, passed several years ago and is survived by her two brothers Jim and Paul. Sadly, Jennifer Ann D’Ascanio passed away on February 24, 2024 at the age of 78.

Jennifer was born in Queens New York on November 20, 1946 a product of a loving marriage of Betty Northfield and James Primiano. From a young age, it was clear that Jennifer the eldest of her siblings was loving and caring, taking care of her siblings as a youth. In high school she met the love of her life, Dominico her late husband. They married and she continued to display her selflessness, love and caring as a homemaker for two sons and her husband. In addition to being a homemaker full time, she worked shift work for numerous years providing much needed money for the family. Over her 40 year career she held numerous jobs while at the same time balancing providing a loving, caring environment for her family.

In 2000, she and Dominico made the decision to move to Florida to be closer to her son and grandchildren, enabling them to enjoy 20 years together in Florida near family. In 2020, after 52 years of marriage, Dominico passed away. In her last years, she enjoyed time with new friends she had made at her independent living facility and her family.

Jennifers kindness, gentleness, and the love she gave to her family cannot be overstated and the impact that it had on her sons and those she met is incalculable. Despite significant personal challenges and struggles throughout her life she was able to provide that love and caring to her family and those around her, which made it all that much more significant. She will be missed.

A Visitation will begin at 4:00 PM followed by a Funeral Service at 5:00 PM at Taylor & Modeen Funeral Home, Jupiter, Florida. For those unable to attend, the service may be watched by using the link below:
