

Max Honio

July 19, 1939 - March 28, 2026

We are saddened to announce the passing of our beloved father, Max Honio, who died on March 28.

Born in New York, he lived a life defined by dedication, kindness, and deep love for his family.

He built a distinguished career as an aerospace engineer, contributing his intelligence, precision, and passion to a field that shapes the future. His work reflected not only his skill, but also his curiosity and commitment to excellence.

Beyond his professional accomplishment, he will be remembered the most for the way he cared for others. He was a loving and devoted father whose warmth, and patience, and generosity touched everyone who knew him. His presence brought comfort and strength, and his absence leaves a space that cannot be filled.

He loved life deeply and found great joy in traveling and seeing the world, always embracing new places and experiences with curiosity and wonder.

He was deeply loved by his family, friends and all who had the privilege of knowing him. His memory will live on in the lives he touched and the love he gave so freely.

He is survived by his daughters, Maxine and Michelle, who will carry forward his legacy of kindness and compassion.

He will be dearly missed and forever remembered.
