“ Dash 10/6/1929 2/18/2016 Please read this lil poem for my beloved father: Ralph T. Denton Note the dates on his tombstone From the beginning to the end. Note that first came his date of birth With the following date creating tears, But remember what matters most of alls the dash between those years. (19 2016) For this dash represents all the time That he spent alive here on this earth And now only those who loved him Know what that little line is worth. For it matters not, how much we own; The cash, the house, the cars, What matters is how we live and love And how we spend our dash! Please think about this long and hard Are there things you'd like to change? For you never know how much time is left, That still can be rearranged. If we could just slow down enough To consider what's true and real, And always try to understand The way other people feel. And be less quick to anger, And show appreciation more And love the people in our lives Like we've never them loved before. If we treat each other with respect, And more often wear a smile Remembering that this special dash May only last for just a little while. So when your eulogy is being read With your life's actions to rehash Would you be proud of the things they say About how you spent your dash?
