

Robert Sean McBrearty

June 8, 1976 - August 26, 2025

Robert Sean McBrearty, 49, passed away unexpectedly on August 26, 2025, leaving behind a legacy of love and adventure. Born on June 8, 1976, Robert was the beloved son of Charles and Linda McBrearty of Satellite Beach, Florida, and beloved brother of Jennifer Whiteside, who survive him.

Robert was a man whose life was defined by his unwavering love for his family. He is survived by his wife, Taylor, his partner in every sense of the word, and their three young children—Sean (8), Knox (5), and Camille (2). To his children, he was not only a father but a constant source of laughter, encouragement, and inspiration. He coached his sons' soccer teams with enthusiasm, instilling in them both work ethic and sportsmanship, and delighted in giving his little Cami girl anything she ever asked for.

A gifted student and leader, Robert attended the University of Florida, where he earned his undergraduate degree and was a proud member of the Chi Phi fraternity. He went on to earn a master's in engineering from the University of Central Florida and a master's in business from Duke University, equipping him for a dynamic professional life.

Over his lifetime, he has lived and traveled all over the world, but he and his family chose to make their forever home in Jupiter, Florida. There, he quickly became a respected and cherished member of the community, known for his warm smile, his presence at school drop-offs riding his bike alongside his sons on their scooters, his dedication to youth soccer and for never missing a Friday night dinner date with his wife.

Robert was an avid surfer and fisherman, passions that he loved passing down to his sons. His charm, humor, intelligence, and work ethic earned him the admiration of colleagues and friends alike. But above all, Robert will be remembered for his devotion to his family. He was happiest surrounded by Taylor and the children, creating memories in everyday moments including his beloved Sunday donut runs, that will live forever in their hearts.

Robert's sudden passing leaves an immeasurable void, but his spirit will continue to guide those who loved him most. His legacy of love and selflessness will endure through his wife, children, family, and countless friends who were fortunate enough to know him.

“ Like others I am still unable to reconcile losing my friend in this manner. We officed only several feet from each other at Pediatrix and often would meet up at the end of the day when I would tell him to get home. Bob exemplified passion for family, work and life. Guess I'm at a loss for better words, but Taylor you know how good of friends Bob and I had become. While I will always remember the good times, his smile and laugh, and every story about sports, kids' birthday parties, etc., my heart hurts for all of you and I pray you somehow find peace.

“ I only had the privilege of knowing Bob through a couple of Teams calls, he was a very nice man. My sincerest condolences to his family. He will be remembered and tremendously missed by his work family.

“ I have had the pleasure of working for and with Bob for the past 4 years and am still in disbelief of his passing. He frequently spoke of Taylor and the children and the importance of taking the time in life to make family the priority; there is no doubt that Taylor and the children were his #1 priority and loved beyond measure. The level of passion and enthusiasm he brought to every work event - whether online or in person - could be felt by everyone and naturally energized the environment. A life taken too soon; Bob will be missed, but not forgotten, by so many.

“ I only had the privilege of knowing Bob for a short time, but it was immediately clear how deeply he loved his wife and children. He was one of the most genuine and forward-thinking leaders I've worked for - always committed to doing what was right and needed. Bob had a remarkable ability to bring out the best in those around him, inspiring people to grow and succeed. Bob was a mentor to me, and I am grateful for the guidance he shared. My sincerest condolences to his family. He will be remembered and tremendously missed.

“ I didn’t know Mr. McBrearty very well on a personal level but I knew him through the eyes of his son, Knox. Knox was in my PreK last year. It was a rough start for him at the beginning of the year but his brother Sean brought him to class every morning and told him he’d be okay and gave him a hug. That type of love and caring they showed one another is learned and observed from their parents. Throughout the year I heard stories of going to soccer practice and games, family adventures and just their normal but remarkable family life. Mr. McBrearty will live on through his children.

“ I’m still struggling to process the heartbreaking news about my friend and colleague, Bob. The shock hasn’t worn off, and I find myself replaying memories of him—especially the way his face would light up whenever he spoke about his young family (surfing, soccer, Peanut Island, and more)
Though Bob was incredibly capable and respected in his professional life, it was his role as a father that truly defined him. His love and devotion to his family were unmistakable, and it was in those moments—sharing stories about our children and the joys of parenthood—that he seemed most at peace.
We often found comfort in stepping away from the pressures of work to talk about what mattered most: our families. Bob understood, deeply and instinctively, the importance of cherishing time with loved ones. He lived that truth every day and that perspective is something we should all try to incorporate into my own life.
His absence leaves a quiet, aching void.

“ Bob was one of the best people I worked with in my career. He was serious about the quality of work while maintaining an atmosphere of respect and fun. I watched him go out of his way to assist a member of our team who was having personal difficulties beyond anything that was expected or anyone else did. He will be missed by many who had the fortune of knowing him. My deepest condolences to his family.

“ I'm heartbroken to hear of Bob's passing. Not only was he a former boss and mentor, but also a true friend. He had a way of bringing out the best in people, pushing us to grow while always making us feel supported and valued. I learning so much from him both personally and professionally. His influence on my life is something I will carry with me forever, and I feel so grateful to have had the chance to know and work alongside him.

From our times in Dallas, Mexico, LA and everywhere in between you will always be remembers. Tay and the kids were his world, and he never missed an opportunity to share stories about them with pride and joy. You will all be in our hearts.

“ It's been over 20 years since we last saw each other, and I wish I hadn't let the contact fade. This news still hits hard — he was such a great soul. My heart goes out to his family, with deepest sympathies to all who loved him.

“ Words cannot capture the depth of this loss. Taylor and the children remain in our thoughts and prayers during this difficult time. Bob was a man of warmth and kindness, whose presence brought joy to all who knew him. He lived fully and loved deeply, setting an example for us all. I will forever cherish the memory of sharing almond champagne on the beach with Taylor, Sean and him, watching the sunset—a simple moment that perfectly reflected the way he embraced life. He will be deeply missed.

“ My heart is broken. Trying to find pictures of our Natural surf team to post. Bobby was one of my shop kids and I was lucky to have him in my life even after I moved to Puerto Rico 📍 sometimes God has to take the good ones sooner. I will miss that million dollar smile and all the fun surf sessions we had throughout the years 💔
