“ Rosemary had asked to paint inside doors in a gloss, so I got into it. I was not in the mood for any mistakes. I removed all the door handles and placed all screws in plain view in waiting to be installed when paint had dried. I began to put the handle back and my set of screws were in some kind of unknown place. Not until I was finished with the whole job did I discover what had happened. Near to the place where i had placed my screw set I SAW A GRANDMA GIGLEY. She had placed my most important screws inside a kind of dish of Menagerie, Grandma Glass so What I NEEDED was hidden form normal view. She Knew I knew and the wall knew. Leave it to a smarty pants and she will out smart you every time. Hope she keeps her self game friendly in her Eternity. Brian A Koller
