

Susannah Taxis Carr

October 8, 1943 - October 19, 2016

Susannah Taxis Carr, born October 8, 1943, passed away October 19, 2016 after a brief battle with cancer. She was instrumental in the tying of the yellow ribbon around the Jupiter Lighthouse during the Gulf War, and in the creation of Constitution Park in Tequesta. She was a loving mother, grandmother and friend. She is survived by her daughter Lauren, her son Eric, and her grandson John. Services will be held Wednesday, October 26, 2016 at 10:00 am at Riverside Memorial Park. Casual attire is requested –shirt and shorts- just as she liked to be. In lieu of flowers, please make donations to the Loxahatchee River Historical Society, as she loved this place so.

Tribute Wall

“ Susannah Taxis Carr

October 22, 2023 at 10:17 AM

“ In the quiet of our minds we will think of you. In the beating of our hearts we will miss you. In the memories of our times together we will celebrate you. Until we meet again.Wayne and "Sam"

- FL - October 28, 2016 at 12:00 AM

“ Please accept my condolences, may the family find comfort @ Issiah 25:8,AJ

A friend - October 27, 2016 at 12:00 AM

“ Suzy, I have a lot of very fond memories of you from our time at Rosarian.We really had some great times together.I will treasure those memories foreverMay you rest in peaceDenise De Winter Florea

Denise Florea - Hollywood, FL - October 26, 2016 at 12:00 AM

“ Susannah Taxis Carr

Billee Heath-Harvey - North Palm Beach, FL - October 25, 2016 at 12:00 AM

“ Love you, Suzy.

Nancy Sharp - Jupiter, FL - Sister - October 23, 2016 at 12:00 AM

JF

“ Suzy was always wonderfully supportive as a mother-in-law and had such a special relationship with my son. I'm very grateful that he got to feel her love and acceptance for so much of his life. John will miss his Mimi very much because she was a confidant. My thoughts are with Eric, Christina, John, and Lauren during this sad time.

Joyce Carr - Reston, VA - Family - October 23, 2016 at 12:00 AM

MF

“ From our days at Stetson to the present, our little group has been connected. Your journey here on earth has ended and you have entered the place of peace forever.

Marjorie Beth Holcombe - Holly Hill, FL - Friend - October 23, 2016 at 12:00 AM