

Tamra Barwick Springman

March 22, 1943 - June 29, 2026

It is with a profound mix of sorrow and love that we announce the passing of Tamra Barwick Springman, who left this world peacefully on June 29 2026, at the age of 83. Born on March 22, 1943, in the town of Judyville, Indiana, Tamra's life was a tapestry of love, dedication, and resilience.

Tamra was the cherished daughter of Rex and Kaye Barwick. Her father, a heroic bomber pilot during WWII, tragically passed away after being shot down over Germany, when Tamra was just two years old. His legacy was immortalized in the plane he named after her, a testament to the love he carried for his daughter.

Tamra is survived by a loving family who will continue to honor her memory: her devoted brother, George Kochel, and her beloved daughters, Pamela Lynch Schott and husband David, Shelly Brown and husband Tom, Charlene Gonzalez and husband Tony, and Melinda Herrera and husband Wil. Her legacy further extends to her grandson, Douglas Lynch, his wife Kayla, and their precious children, Soryn and Keller Lynch, who brought joy to Tamra's life as her great-grandchildren.

Educated at Williamsport High School in Indiana. She spent the majority of her life in Jupiter/Tequesta moving there in 1972, where she raised her 4 daughters. A devoted homemaker, nurturing and guiding her daughters with wisdom and grace. Tamra has touched so many lives with her kindness, strength, and love, and that impact will always remain.

In accordance with her wishes, Tamra's life will be celebrated privately. In lieu of flowers, the family kindly asks that donations be made to the Hydrocephalus Foundation.

Tamra Barwick Springman leaves behind a legacy defined by love, resilience, and an indomitable spirit.
